

PRO AND CON.

ARGUMENTS IN THE FAMOUS BOYCE'S LIBEL SUIT.

The Circumstances of Boyce's Crooked Transactions Clearly Set Forth in Mr. Gage's Address—How Bill Williams Roared and Paved the Earth.

The following arguments of counsel for defense and prosecution, delivered in Judge O'Melveny's court Monday afternoon, proved too voluminous to be given in connection with the report of other proceedings yesterday, but are presented verbatim here-with.

HENRY T. GAGE'S ARGUMENT.

A Clever Analysis of Mr. Boyce's Pecculiar "Fake."

The Court: You can proceed, now, with the argument.

Mr. Gage of counsel for the defense said:

May It Please the Court and You, Gentlemen of the Jury: When the testimony in this case closed the other day, it was my disposition then and there to submit it to you without argument, but, after consulting with my clients and also with associate counsel, it was determined that we would make an argument in the case. The Court had allotted to us the time which you well know. It will be my endeavor, however, to bring myself not only within the rule which the Court has laid down for our government so far as time is concerned, but to bring myself very much within that time.

I must say in the outset that I am somewhat interested in the fallacious and ingenious argument of counsel which the other side did. It is entitled great credit for the attorney with whom he has managed his case, and also to his associate counsel. But when you strip their arguments of their surroundings so far as facts are concerned, you will find that there is no creditable merit. I take it, in the argument made.

Now, before we proceed with this argument, I suppose it will be necessary for us to correctly understand the pleadings in this case. Therefore, I will call your attention to the statement in this case, and then to the answer, and address myself then to the facts involved.

And I might say as a preliminary matter that I hoped that in the consideration of the facts involved in this case that the other side would do justice to the rights of private parties and their testimony in the case, but, at attempt, if possible, to reconcile the testimony with all the facts and circumstances in the case without branding anybody a liar or anything of that kind. But in instance, it certainly will not be considered offensive in us if we apply to the parties in this transaction who deserve it

THE PROPER NAMES, and, therefore, we shall extend to them the same consideration which they have invoked from us.

The complaint is as follows, and I hope you will watch the complaint and the answer, because if you have a clear consideration and comprehension of the complaint and the answers, then the time will be very much shortened. I will omit the first part of the complaint. "Plaintiff complains and alleges, first, that at all of the times hereinbefore mentioned, the Times-Mirror Company, defendant herein, was a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, and the established proprietor of the Los ANGELES TIMES, a newspaper published in the city of Los Angeles, State of California. Second, that the defendants, the Times-Mirror Company and C. J. Richards, were engaged in a scheme, on the 21st day of February, 1888, compass cause to be published, and published in said newspaper and of concerning the plaintiff and concerning the premises, the following false and defamatory matter, to wit:

"Here is a scoundrel, a scoundrel entitled 'Scoundrel' as you have often heard it."

"A startling revelation of cheeky crookedness. How H. H. Boyce tried to do up his partner, Clarence J. Richards, in a land deal. A clear statement and an up and up confession."

You will observe by the heading of that article, gentlemen, that the effort of counsel this morning to throw dust in your eyes in respect to the main issue in this case is to discredit these rumors and so forth, has no considerable merit. This is the prime question under consideration here, whether or not H. H. Boyce did, in fact, and place referred to in this article, try to do up his partner in business. Let us go on. We will read the complaint and then the answer and then we will see whether or not we have

which we maintain we have.

"The publication in last Sunday's TIMES that a warrant had been sworn out against H. H. Boyce and W. H. Seaman for conspiracy caused considerable sensation, and was generally commented on. All sorts of rumors were afloat about him, but what was most remarkable in this is that it was not true. He was not guilty of grand larceny; if not grand larceny, guilty of obtaining money under false pretense, to wit, $10,500; and in either of which cases he would be landed in the penitentiary."

Now, gentlemen, you will not forget this question. Was it true that when Boyce when he was upon the stand asked this question? Now, mark, gentlemen, each and every one of you "Did Richards write you a letter complaining of the fact that you were not giving him his share of the profits?" If you do, you will stand for this case with perjury of Col. Boyce. He said "Yes." Didn't he tell me, in the name of common reason, that he was in the name of common reason, why he was not getting a right to complain? That remains. I say, "Tell me, contract goes on and rec'd. [he] hereby acknowledge the receipt of $21,000." Then why the necessity of an admission of another receipt of $21,000? Tell me that if you can. I say also it was not a subterfuge of the law with which he was in the witness stand, "I wanted to keep it as a receipt," and when pressed by my learned friend, "I destroyed it," he says, and buries it into the fire. Where is the receipt, where is the check, that Clarence J. Richards drew, in a business-like way? It turns up here from the hand among Mr. Richards' papers, where the check came. Boyce drew in an unbusiness-like way? It is done.

And then didn't he prevaricate upon that question? I refer it to you squarely and fairly, intending to judge between what he said and what he didn't say? Why, as the Court suggested, WHY GIVE THAT OTHER CHECK?

If Richards understood it? It is all explained in the asseveration of Richards that he gave the stool, why he wrote it? Let any man in that box tell me. Let his act be to sell to me, and let any man say, "Tell me that, I destroyed it," he says, and paid off the amount on that check at the time and place referred to he told him: "We are satisfied; we want to raise this price for the purpose of showing it to the syndicate."

WHERE WAS THE SYNDICATE?

Have they offered any testimony in that regard? Is there any evidence adduced by Frye? That is a myth, and a myth comes almighty near being in the rough parlance of that distinguished gentleman, McDonald.

Whoever heard of this thirty-dollar contract? I mean of this thirty-dollar contract? There are no testimonies except the bald contradiction of Boyce? What are the circumstances, gentlemen? What shall you conclude from the circumstances? If you conclude that he is guilty of grand larceny, then he is guilty of grand larceny; if not, he is guilty of obtaining money under false pretense, to wit, $10,500; and in either of which cases he would be landed in the penitentiary.

Now, gentlemen, if you find from the evidence that in regard to that matter Mr. Boyce wilfully testified falsely in regard to that material fact, then the Court tells you that you are at liberty to disregard and disbelieve him, and to hold him responsible for that which he said.

STATE WHEN YOU HEARD, IF EVER, THAT $10,500 HAD GONE TO ANY OTHER PERSON THAN McDONALD? A.: Sometime about the 25th of July last year was the first intimation that I had received that the money had not gone to McDonald.

WHEN YOU HEARD, IF EVER, THAT $10,500 HAD BEEN SPENT ON UNDERTAKING SERVICES? Now, mark you, what he has done, and by that evidence, and on our oaths, and on that oath, to conclude if not guilty of grand larceny, guilty of a still worse offense—the offense of robbery.

And I say again, in an ordinary case before you, asking you in a civil case to be guided by the preponderance of evidence, but I shall ask you in the name of common justice even to reach that conclusion except by evidence that satisfies your mind beyond a reasonable doubt. And I say again, through this evidence, I cannot show you, but not only is it proved beyond a reasonable doubt, but beyond possible doubt—he said in this suit, then find a verdict against him.

THE PLAIN MAN'S ARGUMENT.—Not as opposite counsel and you this morning all through his argument, and evaded the whole question at issue—that Otis was mad at Boyce.

His hole argument was based upon that. But I say again, in an ordinary case, if you sit here after he made it, it does not matter how vicious Otis may have been toward Boyce; if he published the truth, then your verdict will be for the defendants. And I say again, in the name of common justice, that that note to that effect is heresy.

MR. HAYNES: We haven't got it, no sir. It was east side of the street.

A STUPFLY.

Don't you think that Col. Boyce had lied his counsel that he got that letter? Now, why, in the name of common reason, should Richards, in July, ask him for an explanation if he knew it in November prior thereto? Let counsel upon the other side answer that. Let any living man that is not dead swear that that note to that effect is heresy.

MR. HAYNES: We haven't got it, no sir. It was east side of the street.

ANOTHER CIRCUMSTANCE in the case, Boyce when upon the stand told you, when pressed and pressed and pressed by Mr.

this transaction. "It was learned on undoubted authority."

Now, gentlemen, I have read what I term the "steal" in that transaction. Then now read our answer as responsive to that and I will omit for the purpose of saving time, the rest of this complaint, and shall not refer to it as going in my argument. (Reading the answers to the complaint alleging truth of publication.) You have heard these answers read, and I will not repeat them, gentlemen. But the answers state that all of the averments of the complaint are true, so far as the article is concerned, with this which is the article involved in this suit. Richards and Otis say that it is untrue, and that they published the matter thereon embraced with good motives and justifiable ends. That is the position in their defense that the law required them to do. If they had not said simply that they published the truth, that would have been all sufficient. The Times-Mirror Company answers, and that is the occasion of all this animadversus, that the purchase didn't belong to Richards and Otis upon that stand that it is untrue, and that he published it with good motives and for justifiable ends. If these facts are proved to you, gentlemen, that ends this case forever, and the plaintiff must go hence without judgment.

Again, I shall only discuss these salient points, gentlemen: What was the necessity for the two checks that Col. Haynes didn't care to bring up above? The table is the same thing was honest and fair, if Richards knew it? And did you mark the testimony of Boyce as it stood upon that stand? He never would come near any other witness with that proposition. When asked whether any other person was ever present at any time when the thirty-dollar contract was made, he said, "I don't know who you could take whatever comfort you may under either proposition; and I say on either, in the language of that article, he ought to have been landed in the penitentiary, and he ought to be landed there for the same reason as the witness stand. You can't escape from that time onward as partners in the transaction? And the only difference in the case would be whether Boyce was guilty of grand larceny or not. If he was guilty of an offense that should have landed him in the penitentiary." Didn't he say so for the sake of humanity?

THE COUNCIL.

AN ADJOURNED SESSION HELD YESTERDAY.

Mr. Cohn Gets on His High Dignity and Wants to Resign the Chairmanship of the Board of Public Works—Bids Received.

The Council held an adjourned session yesterday morning.

The special committee to assess the damages done by the Los Angeles Construction Company to property on Orange and Ingram streets reported. It cutting through the street much blasting had to be done, and the plaster in many of the houses was greatly damaged. Capt. Barrett said the owners should be compensated. He thought $400 or $500 would pay the bill. The company was bound to indemnify the city if damage was done.

The committee's report suggested that the company make a satisfactory settlement with property-holders. The Council endorsed the suggestion.

Mr. Cohn called attention to the fact that the street railroad company had torn up Spring street at First Street, and had switches put in. This work was done Monday night. He wanted the Street Superintendent to explain the matter. By whose permission was this done?

Superintendent Baldwin said the cable company's claim gave it certain rights to make alterations in its tracks, but it often overstepped the limits.

Mr. Cohn moved that the Council cannot enforce its laws, and the railroad companies do just as they please, the rail business of the city be turned over to the Mayor, so as to relieve the Council of all responsibility. The Council seems to be entirely ignored.

Mr. Barrett attempted to explain that the railroad company was acting all right and not stepping beyond the law.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Cohn tendered his resignation as a member of the Board of Public Works. He said he was tired of the manner in which the Council acted in railroad matters.

Mr. Cohn moved that the resignation be accepted.

Mr. Barrett moved to lay it on the table, and the motion was carried.

Mr. Cohn said that when he talked to the superintendent of the street railroad company regarding matters, the latter would say that he was backed up by $2,000,000, and the Council did not have everything to say. "I am tired of being at the tail end of this business," concluded Mr. Cohn.

Superintendent Baldwin hoped that Mr. Cohn would remain on the board. He was a valuable member.

The motion to put the railroad business into the hands of the Mayor was reconsidered.

After some discussion the Street Superintendent voted to inspect all people who violate city ordinances. This takes in street railroad companies.

The Council refused to accept Mr. Cohn's resignation. Mr. Cohn said the cable company rode over everybody. If it wanted to injure any man's property, it did so, or instead of doing it itself, it would get the Los Angeles National Bank block, it would so monopolize the street in front that it would damage the property and force a sale.

The Bituminous Lime Rock Company offered to pave and curb Fort street, from Temple to Sixth streets, at a time at 2½ cents per square foot, and granite curbing at $1.20 per linear foot.

N. P. Perine of San Francisco agrees to do the same work at 29 cents per square foot, and curbing at $1.10 per linear foot.

The Black Diamond Coal Company offered Aztec coal at $12 per ton and kindling wood at $16 per cord.

The Black Diamond Coal Company offered excellent coal at $11 per ton.

This matter was referred to the Supply Committee.

Officer of horses for the fire department were presented and referred to the Fire Commissioners.

The Pacific Paving Company's bid was 28½ cents per square foot; curbing, $1.20 per foot.

A communication from M. L. Wicks regarding the location of Ninth street was referred to the proper committee. There seems to be two Ninth streets. The matter will be properly adjusted.

The Southern Pacific Company sent in a communication stating that the Zanja Madre was overflowing at a point near the company's roundhouse. This overflow has been in progress for several months. It would appear that the overflow is caused by the gates of the Captain's Canal Company.

A motion was made and carried that the milling company be ordered to raise the gates so there will be no overflow. It required considerable discussion to put through this bit of legislation.

The same railroad company asked permission to lay the track on East Alameda street. It was granted.

BRIDGE MATTERS.

The next subject taken up was the bridge matter. City Attorney Daly was very present, and he advised the California Bridge Company to remove the First street bridge to Ninth street before January 1, 1889, to be placed in good condition for $8,000; no Chinese to be employed. The Mayor was instructed to sign the contract.

Agreement was made for the construction of bridge across Alameda avenue at First street, between the city and the California Bridge Company, the California Central Railroad Company and the Cable Company, were ready to be read by the City Attorney. Details were given as to the character of the bridge and the construction of car-tracks on the same, as well as the payment of money for the construction of the same by the city and the railroad companies. The bridges are to be built and ready for traffic by February 1st next. The whole matter—contracts, bonds, etc.—was approved by the Council.

The San Francisco Bridge Company agreed to build a bridge over the river at Seventh street for $3973, as per specifications. A bond accompanied the agreement, and it was accepted.

As soon as the papers are properly signed by the Mayor, etc., they will be turned over to the contractors.

An ordinance for holding an election on October 25th next, to vote bonds for public improvements, the amount of which is to cost $300,000—was defeated by a vote of 2 to 2. Messrs. Chandler and Lovell voted aye.

Mr. Hanley said he could not go east with the Sewer Committee. Surveyor Lambie was selected.

Property-holders on Eighth street protested against the erection of a large piano mill on that thoroughfare. The matter was referred to the Fire Commissioners.

JEWISH HOLIDAY.

Celebration of Shemonees Azereth, the Closing Festival.

This, the last holiday of the cycle of the festivals of the month Tishri, will be celebrated this evening and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the synagogue. The service this evening commences at 7:30. The choir will sing under the direction of Prof. Loeb, and Rev. Dr. Schreiber will lecture in English on "The Coming of the Messiah." All are welcome.

SILLY CHARGES.

The Erbes charges against President Humphreys of the Council caused some talk yesterday, every one seeming to be surprised that the Council would pay any attention to them. The "job" was so apparent that a 10-year-old boy could see the motive. The general opinion of a number of citizens I have heard is that the "job" was too ridiculous to be seriously considered, and that no man who had any self-respect could afford to have anything to do with them. The case was in the courts, and had been public property for weeks—in fact, there had never been anything to conceal, nor any attempt to do so.

A 10-year-old Girl.

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Sanchez brought a nice-looking Spanish girl, aged about 18 years, who gave her name as Mary Espinosa, to the County Jail, to be detained there for safekeeping until Mrs. Watson could take charge of her, which she did last evening. Sanchez said he found the girl in her sister's room (a "crib"), on Alameda street, where she had gone after leaving the residence of Nick Covarrubias, whose wife brought her down from Santa Barbara two or three years ago. Sanchez said that the girl, who was then 10 years old, had been in the care of Mrs. Watson. The girl was well dressed, and gave every indication that she had been well cared for. The matter will be further investigated.

DOWN AND OUT.

Chief of Police Cuddy Retires—A Horse and Buggy.

Chief of Police Cuddy stepped down and out of the police office last evening at six o'clock. His official connection with the office ceased on the acceptance of his resignation Monday at noon, but he put in the time up to last evening in having an inventory taken of the property in his charge, and putting affairs in shape for his successor. Shortly after 5 o'clock Major Workman telephoned the Chief, asking him if he was ready to turn over the office, and on receiving an affirmative answer at once drove over to the police station with his secretary, E. B. Kubel, whom he was received by Mr. Cuddy as he retired on his private office, where a consultation was held. At a few minutes before 6 o'clock, just as the watch was going out, Mr. Cuddy came into the outer office with Major Workman and took up his position inside the room. He then told the officers in charge that he had given his personal orders for their obedience to orders and for their uniform courtesy to him while in office, saying that they had been efficient and faithful in the discharge of their duties, and that he left the department with ill-will toward none. He then announced that Hon. William Williams, then mayor, had personal supervision and control of the force until his successor had been elected and qualified. Major Workman then assumed control of the force, saying that he expected it was for every officer to do his duty. He was the personal head of the department, to whom the officers would report daily until the new Chief had been elected and qualified. The next highest office to the Chief (Capt. Loomis) would be in command until the new Chief was elected.

Captain Loomis followed the written order, after which he left the station, and the affair was over:

MAYOR'S OFFICE.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25, 1888.L. G. Loomis, Captain of Police—
Please excuse me for troubling you, but the city that there is a vacancy in the office of Chief of Police, I have this day taken charge of the force, under my direction, and will report fully to you. The police officers will obey your orders until otherwise instructed.

W. H. WORKMAN, Mayor.

A pleasant feature of the Chief's retirement was the presentation to that official of a fine horse and buggy by his personal friends on the force, which took place in front of the police station about 5:30 o'clock.

CUDDY'S SUCCESSOR.

According to the charter, the Mayor has the power to appoint the Chief for the unexpired term, subject to confirmation by the City Council, and to remove him at any time.

He has the power to appoint the Sheriff, and to send to the name of Capt. H. M. Mitchell, formerly of the Sheriff's office, at the next meeting of the Council. There is no doubt of his confirmation, so that if he will accept the office, there is no question as to his selection. It was, however, freely admitted that he had not been chosen, with the announcement that the whole following Club, 14 uniforms, 60 candles, two deputy sheriffs and President Price, was solid for the Democrats this campaign.

MOSSBACKS.

THEIR TWO-BIT TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION LAST NIGHT.

The Man From Texas Wants the Hon. William Williams and Finds Him—More Republicans Than Democrats at the "Meetin'."

Last night, at about 7:30 o'clock, Meines' band marched about the streets, followed by two unlighted transparencies of the Democratic procession, and piloted the crowd that they drew up the little streets to the envious locality by the jail where the Democrats have chosen to pitch their tent for the campaign. Here a bonfire burned, and another on Fort street, at the head of Franklin, false beacons to lure the voters to the shores of free-trade campaign oratory.

The Bell Democratic Club were to have a rally there last evening, and on the band's arrival with its melancholy following of music-loving idlers, they started out for a grand parade to draw up a bigger audience. It was the first Democratic torchlight parade of the campaign and attracted much curious attention. The torches were of two-candle power each, and there were strung out for half a block.

First came the band, lit up with six torches, say twelve candles, and they played very well considering. There was the club proper, fourteen in number, tastefully attired in jackets, leggings and funny flat hats of unbleached muslin. These were followed by ten marching ones, who bore torches but not uniforms, and then a carriage pulled by the lucky officers and the orator of the evening.

There were three or four regulation transparencies informing the crowd that most favored the Republicans, while the Democrats were supporting the workingman. They also alluded to Harrison's popularity in Hong Kong, and called him Ah Ben with crushing satire. The chief effect was reserved for the last banner, which electrified the onlookers with the announcement that the whole following Club, 14 uniforms, 60 candles, two deputy sheriffs and President Price, was solid for the Democrats this campaign.

THEY PRANCE.

While the club was parading, a fortunate false alarm of fire, accidental or otherwise, had drawn many strangers within sight of the bonfires, and they stayed to see what they were for. No Republican meeting was held last night, and many Republicans wandered over to see what kind of a circus was being put on. The band marched on, and walked up to the stand the seats were all filled, and about 1100 people by count were present.

The band played a couple of tunes, and it was lucky they did, for they never got another chance. The orator, Mr. Price, of the club nominated George Washington Glouster for chairman of the meeting. After a short speech, in which the water-pitcher played a large part, he introduced the orator of the evening, Hon. W. S. Meines.

Mr. Meines made an oration of two and a quarter hours in length, and of fluctuating interest. The stories were not over-pointed, but they served as cases in the long march across the desert of figures. An especially interesting episode was his recognition of Hon. William Williams in the audience.

"HE IS HERE."

During his speech Mr. Meines said he hoped his friend Billy Williams was present.

Hon. W. S. Meines, Uncle Billy, for four years at Washington, was always on opposing sides to him. A voice shouted, "Here's Uncle Bill!" and all eyes were turned upon the stout little gentleman who was sitting on the elevated seats against the Abstract building. He paid Mr. Williams a compliment, and whenever Meines made a strong point a yell would go up: "How's that, Uncle Billy?" All the rest of the evening the curiosity of the people to see Mr. Williams was so great that the attention of the audience seemed about equally divided between him and the speaker.

Mr. Williams renewed the old acquaintance in Congress by eating a social dinner yesterday, and, as was well known, had heard Mr. Williams in his great speech the other night receive the compliment by patiently sitting through Mr. Meines' long speech last night.

The speech was well received by his audience, who listened with great glee to the "slavery," the "workingmen" and the "war of the rich." The "Workingmen" and the speaker.

Toward the close, however, they began to walk away homeward, and when the orator finally sat down they fled in haste lest another should begin, dodging the volleys of "Million" pamphlets which the club and Brother Andy Pickle pelted away at their retreating forms.

"It was a great victory for Gen. Boyce," Yes. As another world-renowned general once said: "One more such victory and we are lost!"

There is no truth in the report that the "General" will invest the amount allowed him by a jury as a balm to his wounded feelings in a bottle of St. Jacob's Oil.

When the commercial value of a jingader-brindle's character has sunk to the low legal standard of one dollar, is it not time that the army and navy of California be reorganized?

Who are now standing in the way of effective Chinese restriction, the Republicans or the Democrats? Our Democratic contemporaries have not had so much to say on this question of late.

If the ancient Arizona barrister would demonstrate his "manliness" to the satisfaction of this manly community, let him refuse to support the cause of thieves and scoundrels. Words are idle; it is acts that speak. Sure?

The Times is satisfied with the verdict. The great mass of the community recognize the fact that the defendants made out their case; that they proved the "damned trick" was played, the contracts juggled, and the money stolen. That is enough for the truth.

The Democrats are not counting on Virginia quite so confidently as they were in June. It begins to look as though Mahone meant what he said when he declared that the breach between his faction and that of Wise was healed. The Virginia Republicans are showing a great deal of activity and hopefulness.

As we quite expected, "Smoothy's" private organ refers to the puncturing of that individual's bubbly reputation by a jury as "Gen. Boyce's victory." This is enough to arouse the latent sense of the ridiculous even in those plegomatic individuals who can read an ordinary Trombone editorial through without a smile.

It is an open newspaper secret that the forthcoming four libel suits of the esteemed but cautious Herald, aggregating $80,000, are the outcome of the tales of a traveler and a correspondent of that paper, who came out of the wilds of Antelope Valley filled up with the Munchausen-like stories of that cheerful liar, Guillermo Jenkinski.

THE VALUE OF MR. BOYCE'S REPUTATION.

The mere pecuniary matter in the verdict that about which the juries in the two cases have given no thought and cared for not at all. It was not the money of Times people that he wanted, but he did want, and he has got, a vindication.... Trombone.

He didn't, didn't he? Then why did his attorneys hand up the following in struction for the Court to read to the jury, which was done:

If the jury find a verdict for the plaintiff, they should assess his damages at such amount as they believe from the evidence the plaintiff should receive from the defendant, not exceeding the sum of $500, and, if the plaintiff claims in the complaint that he has suffered damages in addition to the amount of the sum he ought to receive, if the jury find a verdict for the plaintiff, the jury should consider the plaintiff's injured feelings and tarnished reputation, taking into account the circumstances and the allegations contained in the article complained of, the extent of its publicity, and the character and condition and influence of the parties.

Referring to Mr. Mill's assertion that our labor is the most efficient, and therefore cheaper than that of any other country, Mr. Pettifer says:

"I should like to ask Mr. Mill one question, taking the cotton industry, for instance. In the United States there is all the working class in England and the moneyed classes are injured by that system; it is the working class that is injured, and the upper classes to that class, and of course are doing all we possibly can to get the system altered.

"Taking it all through this country he average workingman is raised up a step higher than is the average workingman in England.... He is not the only one that will call in England the lower middle class, in regard to the house he lives in, the food he eats, the clothes he wears and various comforts that he has. The average workingman in the United States is about the same position as the peasant in England. And it seems to me that the workingman in America, if he liked to live in the same way as does the average workingman in England, could live here nearly as cheaply as he could there. Food would average a little less than in England and his working clothes a very little more."

This man Boyce, now unmasked, may squirm and squeal as much as he likes in the columns of his private organ, but he cannot disprove from a disinterested and intelligent public the harrowing fact that a jury of his peers—or, rather, of his superiors—for we don't wish to insult the jury—decided after mature deliberation, that his damaged reputation, for which he was awarded $50,000, is worth just One Dollar, or $49,999 less than his own estimate.

A PHILANTHROPIST'S TIMELY AID.

It is generally conceded that the unknown and generous philanthropist who recently gave $12,000 to the fever-stricken city of Jacksonville was none other than Levi P. Morton, the Republican candidate for Vice-President. Mr. Morton's benevolence is quiet and unsensational, and his generous gifts are not made for effect, out from the purest motives of charity. It will be remembered that he contributed $120,000 toward the loading of the ship Constellation with food for starving Ireland some years ago, with the request that his name should not appear in connection with his bequest. Most unequivocally does Mr. Morton prove himself to be the friend of the poor and the suffering—a man whose heart responds quickly to the needs of humanity. Contrast Cleveland's pittance of $20 to suffering Charleston and Levi P. Morton's $120,000 to hungry Ireland. Cleveland readily contributes $10,000 for his own reelection, and $200 to the plague-scorched South, while to that same South, solidly arrayed against him, politically, Levi P. Morton secretly sends $12,000 there, with to ease their sufferings, and to bring comfort to them in the midst of need. Which of these two public men is the philanthropist—the good Samaritan worthy of the trust of his countrymen? The people's answer will be heard in November.

GEN. HARRISON ON LABOR.

The following sentiments contained in Gen. Harrison's letter of acceptance, should be carefully pondered by the workingmen of the country. In these words of the Republican candidate the great issue of the campaign is set forth, and their attention is called to the fact that it is for them to decide the question for the future. Let the workingmen of the country forget these words of Gen. Harrison:

"Our workingmen have the settlement of the question in their own hands. They now obtain higher wages and live more comfortably than that of any other country. Their wage claim is based upon the material advantages they have in hand, and the deceptive promises and forecast of theorizing reformers. They will decide for themselves and for the country whether the protective system shall be continued or destroyed."

Bear these words in mind when you go to the polls in November, and vote for home and country, for the protection of your industries, for honest wages in return for honest work. Vote for the American home in place of the English home; for the American man's dinner of bread and beef and fruit, with tea and coffee in plenty, instead of the English peasant's crust and mug of beer. Vote for the $2 per day received by the American laborer, in place of the $20 per year and board received by the foreign farm laborer. Vote for industries protected from competition with pauper imports which represent the unpaid toll of suffering.

LOST AT SEA.

A Ship Loaded with California Wheat Sink.

SAT FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—[By the Associated Press.] A dispatch received at the Merchants' Exchange states that the British ship East Wemyss, which left here May 30th for Cork, collided with the British Ardencaple, bound from Liverpool to Calcutta, on Wednesday, which sank, carried 43,341 cants of wheat, valued at $35,700, shipped by G. W. McNear of this city. The Ardencaple was badly damaged. She put into Fernando Noronha, a small port on the coast of Brazil. Part of the crew of the Wemyss were saved.

No One to Blame.

SAT FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Local Inspectors Talbot and Hillman filed their report with Supervising Inspector Lubbock today in which, regarding the steamer Dolphin, which sprung a leak and foundered near Fort Point, last February, they say that they are of the opinion that a leak in one of the forward water tanks must have started to leak, though no blame attaches to the pilot. In the case of the steamer San Vicente, valued at $30,000, which ran down the coast, and was burned on the night of December 20th, and 12 of her crew were drowned, they say the cause of the fire has not been determined. Both cases did all in his power to save the steamer and the lives of the crew, and no blame can attach to him in the matter.

WAS DOING HIS BEST.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

"That government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth." This utterance, which was made by Abraham Lincoln in his speech at the dedication of the Gettysburg monument, is used as a motto in a cartoon in the New York Graphic, in which Allen G. Thurman is placed in a very noble attitude. There is a painful misnomer, however, between the word and the man.

About the time this language was used Thurman, who was a Copperhead at the time, was doing his best in the Democratic National Convention of 1864 and elsewhere.

"Mr. Dolph replied to what he designated as the radical speech of the Senator from Alabama."

"He spoke of the inconsistency of Democratic Senators who, from being on the British side when the treaty was pending, were now the most radical advocates of retaliation. He regarded the recent resolution to continue the provisions of the existing law providing for the expenditure of the Government up to and including the 10th of October. The joint resolution was passed. It is the fifth of its kind passed this session.

Mr. Morgan proceeded to discuss it. He yielded the floor temporarily so as to permit Mr. Allison to report back from the Committee on Appropriations the House joint resolution to continue the provisions of the existing law providing for the expenditure of the Government up to and including the 10th of October. The joint resolution was withdrawn by the Senator from Nevada as soon as the doors closed, to give Mr. Edmunds an opportunity to offer a broader one calculated to bring out any official correspondence which may have taken place during the pendency of the Restriction Bill. The resolution went over for a day.

The Senate doors reopened at 1 o'clock. Mr. Sherman's resolution for inquiry into the state of relations between the United States and Great Britain and Canada was taken up.

Mr. Morgan proceeded to discuss it. The resolution went over for a day.

Mr. Morgan then resumed the floor and proceeded with his argument. He paid a high compliment to the President for his clear insight and courage. There was, he said, no trimming, no double dealing, no hiding away of his opinions on the part of the President.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Detective McCarthy resigned his position on the police force last night.

The Philosophical Society will hold its next quarterly meeting October 4th.

William J. Bryant, formerly of Watertown, N. Y., died at Burbank yesterday.

The Health Officer has ordered a general cleaning up of back yards, stables and cesspools.

The Third Ward Republican League will meet at Turner Hall, Spring street, this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Police Officer Arguello of the mounted force has been promoted to the rank and goes into business on his own hook.

The members of Main-street M. E. Church will give their new pastor, Dr. Edward Thompson, a reception at the church this evening.

The Elit-Social and Literary Club of Pasadena will give their first dance Thursday night, instead of tonight, as has been heretofore arranged.

The second trial of Abbott, the "mac," was called yesterday, but owing to the fact that his attorneys were not ready, the case went over until October.

The United States Land Office will be moved from Upper Main street to the Wilson block, on Second and Spring streets, on the 1st of next month.

Dr. G. C. and Oscar Pollock got into a fight on First street, about 7 o'clock last evening, and were arrested by Officer Col-lina. They put up hull and were released.

James Brown and Frank Ryan, a couple of boys, were arrested by Officer Gilbert on First street, between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and locked up on suspicion.

The cantata, "Under the Palms," slated for a rendering at the First Methodist Church, has been postponed to October 10th, on account of sickness of some of the soloists.

Washington Hadley began an action against Sheriff Quay yesterday to recover $6000 worth of furniture which that officer had taken in attachment. Mr. Hadley says he has $2000 damage.

An alarm of fire was turned in from box 68, last night, between 7 and 8 o'clock, caused by a bonfire at the Democratic public meeting; at the corner of Franklin and New High streets.

C. J. Richards, one of the defendants in the "Sister" Borden suit, was so happy over his $1000 fine that he left for the East last night to celebrate the victory with his eastern friends and relatives.

Ex-police officer Gus Ryan, who was a candidate for the office of Chief of Police when T. J. Cuddy was elected, showed up yesterday and locked up on suspicion. The cantata, "Under the Palms," slated for a rendering at the First Methodist Church, has been postponed to October 10th, on account of sickness of some of the soloists.

Washington Hadley began an action against Sheriff Quay yesterday to recover $6000 worth of furniture which that officer had taken in attachment. Mr. Hadley says he has $2000 damage.

R. H. Thompson, the man who stole the tools from the Temple-street cable engine-house, was convicted of petty larceny in Justice Austin's court yesterday. He will come up for sentence this morning.

Tonight there will be a Republican rally at the same place, and the meeting will be in Daly streets, East Los Angeles. Col. R. B. Treat, F. R. Willis and others will address the meeting. The glee club will be in attendance.

The notorious Tobe Wilson, the king of tramps who was given a "doctored" of 60 days before Justice King and a jury, yesterday, received a 60-day sentence, and he was sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment in the County Jail. The jurymen were all business men, and the result shows that there is no trouble in securing a conviction in these cases when the right sort of men are summoned.

For the man who brought charges against President Humphrey, the City Council last Monday night, visited the Tobe's office yesterday, and indignantly denied that he does not pay his bills. He says that he offered to pay Mr. Humphreys the money due him twice, but Mr. Humphreys refused to take it, and the money disappeared. The case is to be settled in court, and the parties will be able to get at the bottom facts. Nobody attaches any credence to Ebers' charge of venality against Mr. Humphreys.

A Fine Report.

Longley Bros., who furnished the short-hand report of the recent libel suit, as published by THE TIMES, are entitled to great credit for the promptness and accuracy of their work. In the five days of the trial they furnished nearly seven columns of matter, and it is fair to say that our reporter of that length was never made. The Longleys are a reporting family, their father being a stenographer of note.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Bituminous Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company.

Take this opportunity of informing the citizens of the property-owners of this city that the pavement laid on Main street, between First and Third streets, is not bituminous lime rock, but is an artificial mixture, and not laid by our company. We make this announcement for the purpose of disabusing the minds of those who entertain the belief that this pavement was laid by this company, and are disposed to criticize our material as being soft and not suitable for the streets of this city. The only bituminous lime rock ever used in this city is by the company, and extends on Main street, from the south line of Third to Ninth street, and on Spring street from Temple to Ninth street. Bituminous lime rock does not become soft and mushy under the heat of the sun, but always remains firm and elastic. We have already laid on the streets of this city about 500,000 square feet of this pavement, to which we take pleasure in giving inspection. Very respectfully yours Bituminous Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company.
